

Library Databases for 6th to 8th Grade Students

A library card is required to access these free databases.

Don't have one? Click here to apply* for a digital card now.

(*Adult authorization is required to apply for children 16 and under.)

The go-to site for learning more about any subject!

El sitio al que acudir para aprender más sobre cualquier tema en Español.

Unique cultural information provided by natives and long-term residents on daily life and social customs around the world.

A comprehensive collection of reliable news sources covering a wide array of topics and issues.

A massive collection of digitized newspapers, magazines and images.

Selected articles and graphics on the enduring and talked-about issues of the day.

Selected articles and graphics and books for social issues for early learners.

A comprehensive collection of full-text biographies, including biographical reference collections and magazines.

An enormous collection of full-text journals covering a broad range of academic study.

Esta base de datos de texto completo en español cubre una amplia gama de temas dentro y fuera de la academia.

Free Educational Websites for 6th-8th Grade Students

No library card is required to visit these free educational resources.

Crash Course Kids is a YouTube channel all about grade school science. Explore Earth and Physical Science, Biology, Geography, Engineering, and Astronomy.

Fact Cards are a series of research resources designed for quick reference for students in grades 4 through 8. The topics covered by Fact Cards are those California, United States, and World topics included in the social studies curriculum in California.

Features collections, stories, video and more from around the Smithsonian Institution Museums.

Resources to help identify reliable sources of news and other information.

A free online almanac, dictionary, encyclopedia, and homework help for students in 4th-12th grades.

Learn almost anything — for free! With a library of over 2,800 videos covering math, science and engineering, computing, arts and humanities, economics and finance, test prep, and more.

Explore a wide range of interactive video lessons available to students and teachers on PBS Learning Media. *Students must create free account with email address to access. *